UF/IFAS EXTENSION HOSTING CLASS ON BERTHA PALMER

Bertha Honore Palmer was one of the best-known and wealthiest American women in early 1900s. An art collector, women's rights advocate, businesswoman, world traveler, and owner of Chicago's Palmer House Hotel, she journeyed to Sarasota in 1910. She wound up spending much of the rest of her life here, on one of America's last frontiers. She invested in cattle and farming, and created communities out of marshlands, pine forests, and tropical jungles. She managed to make a good deal of money and to change Sarasota forever.

On Friday, February 1st from 9:30am – 10:30am, join Frank Cassell, author of the award-winning "Suncoast Empire," for a free, one-hour look at why Palmer chose this area and her vast and lasting influence.
